

domestic violence is close to home for Californians

49% know a family member who has been a victim

70% believe it can happen to them

97% believe children who are exposed are more likely to have health problems

Californians support solutions educating

young people

raising awareness

funding
shelters

training
community
members

supporting veterans

blue  of california
foundation